

Scrum - User story #845

As a user, I want to have sprints for project 1 not know about sprints from project 2

Description It seems that sprint definitions are global, not per project, which is... not what I'd expect, and makes this unusable for me with multiple clients using the same redmine instance - I'd need a separate redmine instance for each client. Can this be made per-project?

This plugin has always defined Sprints per project, this is not a bug.
